2) under the Several PH Acts, it is the obligatory duty of the local body concerned to spend money on lighting the public streets within the PH limits but in regard to the lighting of permanent roads running thro PH limits, it is a matter of policy, as street lighting would form part of the maintenance of the road – Nelamangala

G O.No Ds 1871 dated the 26th December 1941 approving a circular to be issued by the General Superintendent, Cauvery Power Scheme to the Residents of Municipal Councils and Village Panchayets, intimating them of the proposal to reduce the number of street lights by one half and to enhance the royalty on the reduced number of lights

2 D O No Ds 2230 dated the 22nd January 1942 to the General Superintendent, Cauvery Power Scheme, returning duly approved, another circular to be issued by him to the local bodies, intimating them that the enhanced rate of royalty on street lights would come into effect from 1st January 1942 etc

3 Letter No 3469 dated the 24th February 1942 from the General Superintendent, Cauvery Power Scheme recommending, under the --- circumstances reported, that the present rates of royalty on street lights - overhead and ornamental be continued and requesting early orders in the matter.

Order No Ds 2859-74 Dated Bangalore, 13th March 1942

The General Superintendent, Cauvery Power Scheme who was requested to report the result of the Circulars issued by him, states that generally, the local bodies are not agreeable to pay the enhanced rate of royalty for the street lights that will be left in service and that most of them have agreed to the disconnection of a certain number of lights, though not equal to 50 per cent as contemplated in the circulars read above He further states, in this connection, that the items in which increase in expenditure is likely to result may be set off against the saving to be effected by the reduced number of hours the street lights are allowed to burn He therefore recommends that the present royalty on street lights, overhead and ornamental, be continued.

2. Government consider it desirable to allow some relief to the Municipalities and Village Panchayets for li hts removed, as they will also have to face financial difficulties and would require relief by this reduction in lighting charges. They accordingly direct that the existing rates of royalty on street lights be continued, as recommended by the General Superintendent, Cauvery Power Scheme.

3 It is hoped that the switching off of lights during moonlight hours will set off against the increased cost of spares and of repairs and renewals, as the bulbs are expected to be used for double their normal period of life.
